INTRODUCTION

Background and Scope

This bibliography is a supplement to Bibliography of publications 1941-1960 by Charles S. Mack, and covers 1961 to June, 1982. All previous editions are superseded.

Included are publications related to NORC studies, and publications by NORC staff members not specific to studies but on related subject matter.

The use of the word "bibliography" in the title rather than simply the phrase "publications list" reflects an attempt to record here all writing based on NORC projects whether published formally or not. At the same time, the list provides information on availability of publications.

Not included are publications based on projects in which NORC has participated on a contract basis, unless the publication is authored by an NORC staff member or has something to do with the conduct of the study (information on sampling, for example, or particular aspects of survey methodology).

Additional information on publications and studies is available from the NORC Library or, for early studies, from the following:

Allswang, John M. and Bova, Patrick: NORC social research, 1941-1964: An inventory of studies and publications in social research. Chicago, NORC, 1964.

Organization of the List

There are two sections, the first a list of publications arranged alphabetically by author's last name, and within author by title, and the second a section headed "Access to the author list by study and research centers."

Author list: A continuous listing by author's last name, with cross references for joint authors. The studies involved are indicated in the last line.

Access to author list: A listing of studies to provide access by study content and a description of NORC research centers to provide access by activities of each center. See introduction to the section for more information.

Availability of Publications

The Library attempts to make all publications available, whether by purchase, free, on loan, or by copying, with the exception of books in print and published by trade publishers (out-of-print books may be available on loan).

An asterisk (*) preceding an entry indicates that a supply of the item is readily available free if no price is given (article reprints, for example) or at the price given (NORC reports and monographs, for example). Prepayment would be appreciated.

Items not marked with an asterisk may be available in a local library, by loan from the NORC Library, or by copying at 20¢ per page (or 10¢ per page where two pages are reduced to one). Inquire about availability where the situation is not clear.

In some cases, availability is indicated by reference to a specific agency; information about these agencies is given below:

NTIS: Material is available from National Technical Information Service, a quasi-governmental agency that abstracts and distributes reports based on government-supported research. It is necessary to prepay; to find out how much and for order procedures, write or call:

National Technical Information Service
Springfield, VA 22161

(703) 487-4660

ERIC: Material is available from Educational Resources Information Centers, a part of the U.S. National Institute of Education, which abstracts and distributes reports in education supported by the federal government. ERIC requires prepayment. To inquire about costs and order procedures, write or call:

ERIC Document Reproduction Service
P.O. Box 190
Arlington, VA 22210

(703) 841-1212

GPO: Material is available from the U.S. Government Printing Office, the printer and distributor of many government publications. Prepayment is required; for information call or write:

U.S. Government Printing Office
Superintendent of Documents
Washington, DC 20402

(202) 783-3238

Ph.D. dissertations: Most dissertations are available from Xerox-University Microfilms, Ann Arbor, MI 48103. Order information and abstracts are given in Dissertation abstracts international. University of Chicago dissertations are available from the Photoduplication Laboratory, University of Chicago Libraries, 1100 E. 57th Street, Chicago 60637. Lending copies may be available from the NORC Library.

NTIS, ERIC, and GPO all maintain depository arrangements with libraries; ask reference librarians locally for information.

ACCESS TO THE AUTHOR LIST BY STUDY AND RESEARCH CENTER

Introduction

Most NORC research is conducted as individual surveys or studies, all of which are numbered. In recent years, subject-oriented research centers have been created whose individual studies share a similar subject focus. The purpose of this section is to provide access to the author list by title of study and by research center activity. The section is divided into two parts: STUDY LISTS and RESEARCH CENTERS.

STUDY LISTS

The study lists are grouped by type of study, that is, studies initiated through one of the research programs at NORC and studies done under contract.

The first group of studies is headed NORC-GENERATED STUDIES. The second group is headed CONTRACT RESEARCH. The study numbers involved are as follows:

NORC-Generated Studies:

S-64 to S-83
100-509
5010-current

NORC-GENERATED SPECIAL PROJECTS:

2000, 3000 series numbers

CONTRACT RESEARCH

SRS-100 to SRS-889*
4001-current

A study entry includes the following elements:

- . Study number
- . Research Inventory number (refers to entry in NORC Social Research, 1941-1964; see under Allswang for citation)
- . Study title
- . Date of data collection, if applicable; otherwise date study started
- . Authors' last names: A list of authors who have written on the study, in alphabetical order
- . Cross-references to related studies

To use the study lists, locate studies of interest, and refer to the author

*The SRS prefix stands for Survey Research Service, the division of NORC that at one time specifically worked with extramural contracts; this work is now integrated into the organization.

list to locate writing based on those studies. In the author list, the study number is included in all entries as the last line.

RESEARCH CENTERS:

Brief descriptions of each of the three research centers within NORC are given on pp. 182-183, along with information that can be used to access the main bibliography from the point of view of the activities of these centers.

Research Centers at NORC (Brief descriptions as an aid to searching the author list.)

The Cultural Pluralism Research Center was founded in 1971 as the Center for the Study of American Pluralism by Andrew M. Greeley. The Center is now directed by William C. McCready. This center focuses on cultural pluralism and social diversity.

The early work of the center concentrated on research on American ethnic groups. A summary of this work appears in Greeley: Ethnicity in the United States: A preliminary reconnaissance (Wiley, 1974). More recent research focuses on drinking behavior and its relation to the family structure found within different ethnic groups. The General Social Survey (GSS) is conducted within this center; see below for more information.

Authors listed under Study 5035 above have written generally in the area of ethnic studies. Listed below are specific studies conducted under the auspices of this Center:

- 5044: Study of ethnic media in urban neighborhoods.
- 5046: Ultimate beliefs of the American population.
- 5060: Changing role of urban women.
- 5079: Relationship between mass media and the way young people think about themselves.
- 5081: Family structure and ethnic drinking behavior.
- 5090: Study of relationship between family structure and achievement.
- 5101: Replication of the study of family structure and drinking behavior.
- 5116: Enrollment trends in non-public schools.
- 5125: Analysis of the Hispanic undercount in the 1980 census.
- 4172: Replication of the 1963 study of the social effects of Catholic education; see 476 for the 1963 study.

The Economics Research Center (ERC/NORC) was founded in 1980 by Robert T. Michael. Research concentrates in three areas: labor markets and earnings; behavior over the lifecycle; economics of the family. A summary of work on economics of the family can be found in Gary S. Becker: Treatise on the family (Harvard, 1981).

Authors who have written under the auspices of this center are as follows:

- Abowd; Avery; Burdett; Butler; Coppock; Epple; Flinn; Heckman; Kiefer; Killingsworth; McElroy; Mare; Michael; Robinson; Rosen; Sedlacek; Topel; Willis.

The Social Policy Research Center was formed in 1981 and is directed by Harold Richman. Research covers a wide range of topics, particularly work on children and youth and on long-term care and disabilities. Recent publications in these areas include Meltzer, Farrow and Richman, eds.: Policy options in long-term care (University of Chicago Press, 1981) and Tests and Wulczyn: The state of the child, Volume 1 (Children's Policy Research Project, University of Chicago, 1980). See also the work by Joe listed in the bibliography.

General Social Survey (GSS) is a ten year project which has included an annual survey from 1972 through 1978, and then biannual surveys in 1980 and 1982, on a wide range of topics. Most questions are repeated from previous surveys done by NORC; Survey Research Center, University of Michigan; the Gallup Poll and others; in addition, by use of a rotating scheme, questions are repeated within GSS itself. This bibliography does not list publications which use GSS data, except for those done by NORC staff or those of methodological interest. Publications based on GSS data are, however, covered in the Annotated bibliography listed in this bibliography under Smith, Tom W. Information about GSS generally is available from the NORC Library.

Authors who have written on methodological aspects of GSS and NORC staff who have used GSS data are as follows (GSS years are given at the end of the entries):
