What kind of questions will you be asked to complete on the Census of Tribal Law Enforcement Agencies (CTLEA)?

The CTLEA asks questions that other tribal law enforcement agencies, tribal leaders, and law enforcement experts have identified as important to the operation of agencies just like yours. Some example questions include:

- Does your tribal law enforcement agency employ sworn officers with general arrest powers and/or the authority to issue citations?
- Are any of your officers authorized to enforce state laws?
- Does your agency administer a jail?
- What types of benefits, training, and equipment are available to your sworn officers?
- Did your agency encounter difficulties hiring or retaining staff in the last year?
- What kinds of law enforcement functions, community engagement, and other services does your tribal law enforcement agency provide?
- What policies and procedures does your agency have in place as it relates to Missing and Murdered Indigenous Person?
- Do you have mutual aid agreements or relationships with local service providers to support people with mental health or substance use disorders?
- What kind of technology does your agency have access to?
- What does your agency's workload look like as it relates to calls for service and different types of arrests?
